Subject: Mentorship in Robbie's words

Colleagues,
I recently received a message from Robbie Abed, a practitioner in the Technology practice who is leaving Deloitte to pursue an opportunity in industry. I was struck by how he captured in his own words our core belief about taking care of our people – especially our focus on mentorship and colleagues for life.
With his permission, I am forwarding this wonderful illustration of how we actively mentor. Robbie has our best and my thanks go to the colleagues below (and the multitude of others) who brought mentorship and apprenticeship to life. So in Robbie's own words the reason why Deloitte is special.
Best, Punit
P.S. I made a few small deletions for wider distribution.

Dear [Mr./Mrs./Ms.] [Manager's Name],

I am writing to you in response to the Sales Associate job advertisement listed on your website. I would like to convey my interest in the position, as I am confident that I possess all of the necessary qualifications to fulfill the job role.

Over the past five years, I have worked as a sales associate at both Target and H&M. My experience at these companies has taught me the value that passionate customer service can bring not only to a brand's image, but to the company's bottom line as well. If you ask my former managers about my performance, they would mention my exceptional up-selling techniques—which increased sales and customer retention. For example, at H&M I was able to:

- Assist an average of 40 customers per day in finding or selecting items, and provided recommendations that generated $3K in additional revenue
- Achieve an average of 140% of sales goals for three consecutive months
- Provide outstanding customer service, receiving 90% in customer service feedback surveys

I would like to discuss your sales associate position in detail and would be happy to come in for an interview at any time that's convenient for you. I am available by phone or email. Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]
